

5

False cognates (within the frame of Nostratics): a few examples which might look like appropriate correspondences for various reasons; but A. Dolgopolsky shows their failure due to lack of etymological reconstruction, with revealing some phonetic sources leading to phonemic + semantics

FALSE COGNATES

Armenian -k^h, plural (← Indo-European
*-s)

≠ Hungarian -k,
plural (← Finno-Ugrian -kka,
derivative suffix
[of collective nouns])

German vier [fir] '4'
(← IE *k^wet^uor)

≠ Angas (N. Nigeria)
fir '4' (← Chadic *p^hvr
← Hamito-Semitic
*pvrɣ-)

English direction (← Latin directio derived from dirig- 'to direct')

≠ Hebrew
derek 'way'

German haben
'to have'

(← IE ~~geb-~~)

≠ Latin